

Fire Warden (Construction) - E-Learning

Course Aim

This e-learning course provides the information needed for delegates to become a qualified Fire Warden or Fire Marshal however, this does not replace practical training.

The training covers delegates duties, how to use a fire extinguisher, and how to effectively manage fire drills & evacuations. Ensuring that fire warden duties are given to a responsible person on site is an integral part of maintaining a commitment to health and safety and it demonstrates a commitment to current legislation.

This course is split into five sections, with the aim to provide easily-digestible information to delegates to ensure that the information taken from the course is retained once completed.
